

Student Contract

Ensuring amazing student outcomes is a high priority here at the New York Code & Design Academy. For that reason, each of our students is encouraged to sign this student contract with themselves to dedicate their time and energy to a successful semester with us.

1. I will work hard to attend each class session. If I am late or have to miss a class, I will discuss what happened in class with a fellow student to ensure I didn't miss anything important. I'll also make an effort to catch up on my own and ask the instructor the best way to do so.
2. If I'm unable to submit an assignment on time, I will make it up and submit it within a week of its due date to ensure it does not impede my further progress in the course.
3. I will keep track of my progress using the Instructure login provided to me at the beginning of class and attempt to re-submit any assignments with unsatisfactory marks to improve my understanding of the subject matter.
4. I will embrace the mantra of "no silly questions" and ask questions of my teachers, instructors, and the internet (Google, Stack Overflow, etc) regarding anything I can't figure out in an expedient manner to accelerate my learning. I understand that this class, my instructors, and the NYCDA learning environment is a judgement free zone where questions are highly encouraged.
5. I will give suggestions and feedback to my instructors and the NYCDA to ensure that I am learning what I came here to learn and the provided course stays sharp and relevant.
6. I will put in the time I need outside of class to understand the material.

I, the undersigned, take responsibility for my own learning and by signing this document indicate my intent to give my all to this course.
